National Museum Day { Saturday, September 24 }

Meet us at the University of Missouri's Museum of Art and Archaeology to enjoy its annual open house and celebrate National Museum Day. Located at Mizzou North on Business Loop 70, the Museum is easy to find and has plenty of parking.

In partnership with the Smithsonian Institute, the museum will feature a special display in conjunction with the Daniel Boone Regional Library's One Read selection, Bettyville. Museum docents will help interpret Museum objects while several University archives, museums and special collections will offer highly interactive, family-friendly activities such as writing, storytelling, scavenger hunts and art workshops, as well as lively introductions to the Museum's many special collections.

In the spring newsletter, we introduced you to a few new ideas such as painting and glass fusing classes at the Brick District's Art House. Our instructors taught and encouraged us to find our creative side – let's just say it was easier for some than it was for the rest of us! While we may or may not have created a few masterpieces, we had fun!

More glass fusing classes are planned at the Art House and this time, instead of oil painting, we'll learn to paint with water colors. We would love to have you join us.

Several of you liked the idea of planning local events hosted by Westminster College and William Woods University. We are also looking into attending a TRYPs (Theatre Reaching Young People and Schools) production at Stephens College. Your grandchildren or special young friends will absolutely love this!

If you have ideas of events you would like us to consider in Columbia or the Fulton area, please let us know. We'll plan lunch or dinner along with the event. We may learn of some events in between newsletters, so we are developing a list of those who would like to be contacted when a new event is planned locally. Interested? Just let us know if you would prefer to be contacted by email or a phone call.

We've welcomed a few new pokeno and card players. Don't be shy! If you're unsure how to play, we'll arrange for a crash course before the next game so you'll be ready. Just imagine the fun you'll have with us and the new friends you'll meet!

We make it even easier now to sign up for events. Just call, email, stop by or register online. Our staff at all locations is ready to help, as is our Customer Care Team when you call in. See details on the Schedule of Events page.

As always, we appreciate you giving The Callaway Bank the opportunity to serve your financial needs. Now, let's have some fun!
